

)

A rectangular box with a brown border containing four horizontal lines for text entry. The lines are arranged as follows: a top line spanning the width, a second line starting from the left margin, a third line starting from the center margin, and a bottom line starting from the left margin.

A large, empty rectangular box with a brown border, occupying the lower half of the page.